MEETING OF THE BOARD
OF PUBLIC WORKS*THE CLOSING OF STREETS AT LITTLE BAYOU WAS DISCUSSED—
J. A. DAW TRANSFERS GAR-BAGE CONTRACT TO ROBERT RIDLEY.

The regular meeting of the Board of Public Works was held last night, with Mayor Welles, Chairman Zellus and Mr. Alfred present. While the session was not a lengthy one, nevertheless it was very interesting, and considerable business was transacted.

Among the first matters to be considered was the question of closing streets near Little Bayou. This matter was discussed at some length, but it was finally decided to postpone action until the next regular meeting. The board is in doubt as to whether or not the sections now being used as streets were ever laid out and authorized as streets or public thoroughfares. As a consequence the board desires to procure more information before proceeding further.

J. A. Daw, who holds the contract for gathering up and disposing of city garbage, asked that he be allowed to transfer the contract to Robert Ridley. The board considered this request and after some talk granted the request, provided that Ridley could give the bond required for the proper performance of the duties.

City Clerk C. L. Shine, who attended the Good Road's Convention at Jacksonville, reported upon what had been accomplished there, and also what prospect there was for obtaining a sample road of one mile in length in the city. He had spoken, he stated, to Col. Mann, who has charge of the work in Florida, and also with Senator Dodge. He had been informed that it was against the policy of the government, from which the appropriation had been secured, to build city roads, but he had, nevertheless, been given every assurance that the work would be done in Pensacola, provided the proper influence was brought to bear upon the Florida senators and representatives.

The application of M. A. Tourant for the position of street superintendent, was read. Upon motion, it was filed, as there was no vacancy to be filled. Hackman Barry asked that the board reimburse him for the damages to his hack, as he had run over a stump in the western portion of the city, which had the result of breaking up his hack. He asked for $25. The communication was filed.

The Drayman's Association asked for the privilege of moving a telephone from the southeast corner of the plaza to the southwest corner. This communication was also filed.

Chairman Zellus spoke of the condition of East Gregory street, where a number of holes exist. This matter was referred to Superintendent Burns for investigation, and to remedy if possible.

Marshal Schad made a verbal report upon the work of rebuilding and constructing sidewalks. The work is progressing nicely, but the property which the board instructed the marshal to investigate and make a test case of it, had been sold. This information had been obtained by the marshal from official records, and of course no proceedings could be instituted or work commenced by the city in constructing new walks.

A long trip up the sound was made, the party landing and eating their dinner on the beach. It was Captain Edmundson's banner day, the tourists say, and the crowd itself was a jovial one.

Captain Edmundson wishes all tourists and Pensacolians to know that he will make another trip Thursday, February 2, starting at 8:30 a. m. and everyone is invited to go and have a good time. Lunch and chowder can be had at the island at reasonable rates. Phone 204.

TEMPERATURE WILL DROP
MANY DEGREES TO-DAY*PREDICTION IS THAT COLD WAVE WILL REACH PENSACOLA BE-FORE NIGHTFALL AND FREEZ-ING TEMPERATURE WILL BE EXPERIENCED.

From all indications the residents of this section of the state will experience another cold wave. In fact the local weather office hoisted the cold wave signal yesterday morning, and during the day precautions were taken by those who had flowers and fruits exposed to protect them.

The forecast from Washington, received at The Journal office last night at 10 o'clock, is to the effect that rain will occur early this morning, which will be followed by fair weather, and much colder. The temperature will continue to drop, according to the Washington prediction, until to-morrow, when it will be much colder than experienced to-day. In fact it is anticipated that to-night and to-morrow will be among the coldest days of the season.

Extremely cold weather is being experienced all over the country, the coldest being registered at Havre, Montana, where the thermometer registers forty-two degrees below zero.

The advance of the cold wave was known in Pensacola early yesterday morning, when Weather Observer Reed received advices from Washington that the cold wave was approaching this section. The observer in his daily bulletin gave notice of this fact, and later hoisted the cold wave signal over the government building.

While the extent of the cold wave, which is expected to reach here during the day, is not known, it is expected that the thermometer will drop below the freezing point, as the weather in all sections is very severe.

Observer Reed in the bulletin yesterday, said regarding the weather condition:

"Extremely low temperatures are reported from the Northwest this morning; the lowest is forty-two degrees below zero at Havre, Montana; it is 38 degrees below at Miles City, Mont.; 25 degrees below at Bismarck, N. D.; 22 degrees below at St. Paul and 22 degrees below at Huron, S. D. The zero isotherm dips southward in the West to Kansas and Colorado, while at Amarillo, Tex., it is 14 degrees above zero.

"An abnormally high air pressure accompanies this cold wave; the barometer is low from California to Southwestern Utah.

"Snow was falling at 7 a. m. in the District of Columbia, Western New York, upper Michigan, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Northern Texas; at the same hour it was raining in Texas at Galveston, Palestine and Taylor, over Arkansas, from San Francisco to Modena, Utah, and in Tennessee; rain was falling at Memphis and sleet at Nashville where it will turn to snow to-day. The southeasterly progress of the cold wave will again make severe weather for the central and eastern portions of the country, and will force freezing temperatures again into Florida."

STILL AT WORK CLASSIFYING THE CITY DOCUMENTS.

Col. Chas. A. Choate, who has been employed by the Water Committee to classify the various papers and documents of the city, is still engaged in his work, but with his corps of clerks will probably complete the arduous task within the course of the next ten days.

The work is being done in one of the rooms of the fire headquarters on Garden street, where the dozen or more trunks filled with city documents were recently carried.

It is anticipated that the water committee will hold a meeting at an early date, and that it will submit a report to the next meeting of the city council.

Maine Heads the List.

New York, Feb. 1.—Figures of new companies formed in the Eastern states in January with a capital of $1,000,000 or more reached a total of $116,250,000. This is an increase over the December figures, which aggregated $107,300,000, and also over January figures of last year, which were only $59,508,200. Maine heads the list with a total capitalization of $42,500,000, followed by New Jersey with $39,000,000.

THE ADJUTANT GENERAL COMING*GENERAL FOSTER WILL BE HERE
ON THE 13TH TO INSPECT LOCAL TROOPS.

Adjutant General J. Clifford R. Foster, of the Florida state troops, will be in Pensacola on February 13th, when he will inspect the two companies of local militia. The adjutant general will be accompanied by Colonel Norvell, of the regular army, who is a retired army officer and who has been assigned for the inspection of the Florida troops by the war department.

The two local companies of the state militia are preparing for the visit of the adjutant general and Colonel Norvell and will present a neat and soldierly appearance when the inspection occurs at the armory on the night of February 13.

All members of both companies have been summoned to be present at the meeting of the commands, when they must have present all property belonging to the United States, in order that it may be properly accounted for at the time of the inspection.

An Astute Blind Man.

A blind man possessed $500, and, fearing that somebody might steal it, he buried his treasure in a corner of his garden. A neighbor saw him at his work and in the night stole his money. The blind man on discovering his loss and suspecting his neighbor went to him and said: "My infirmity renders me diffident, and few are the persons whom I can trust. You are one of those few, and I have come to tell you a secret and to ask your advice. I am the possessor of $1,000 in gold. I have hidden half of it in a place which I believe to be secure. Do you think I would do well to put the other half in the same place?" "Yes, by all means," replied his neighbor. "Were I in your place I would do the same. There is no knowing what may happen if you keep your money in your house." Having given his advice, the thief, hoping to get the rest of the blind man's money, hastened to replace the half he had stolen, and thus the astute blind man recovered his property.

Looking Glasses in Coffins.

One of the ancient customs connected with Swedish funerals was to place a small looking glass in the coffin of an unmarried female, so that when the last trump sounds she might be able to arrange her tresses. It was the practice for Scandinavian maidens to wear their hair flowing loosely, while the matrons wore it bound about the head and generally covered with some form of cap; hence the unmarried woman was imagined as awakening at the judgment day with more untidy locks than her wedded sisters and more in need of a glass.—Westminster Review.

Was on Forbidden Ground.

"A debating society was formed in one of the counties of my district," said a Kentucky congressman, "and among the first questions debated was, 'Resolved, That the negroes have more cause for complaint than the Indians.'"

"It was stipulated the arguments should be confined to the United States. The first disputant on the affirmative opened with a speech to sustain his position, every word of which was listened to with close attention by the chairman. The disputant for the negative made a few remarks in answer and then turned to the Bible and commenced reading passages for the purpose of proving that some of the points made by his opponent were not backed up by the good book.

"The chairman stopped him with: 'Halt right where you are, Jim. Don't go any further. You have gone out of the United States for argument.'"—Nashville Banner.

A Robust Babe.

Sir John Richard Robinson in his "Fifty Years of Fleet Street" tells of an amusing incident during the visit of the Swazi deputation from the Transvaal to England at the close of 1894: "The Swazi braves went to Windsor, and had an audience of her majesty Queen Victoria. They were very graciously received. One of their number followed him phrase by phrase. 'We come, O great mother,' he said, 'to bring you our babes; fold him, O mother, to thy knees; fold him, O mother, to thy knees, half frightened, exclaimed: 'But where is the child? I don't see him. Where is he?' Here, O mother," said the Swazi gravely, at the same time bringing forward a big black about six feet high and weighing well over 200 pounds. 'He is here.'"
